The advantages of integrated care and coverage

When everything's connected, your prospects get:

- More care in fewer trips – Many of our locations have doctors, specialists, labs, and a pharmacy, which can help save time and money.
- Simple, easy access – We're not a claims-based organization. When our doctors think a member needs treatment, they order it – without the red tape.
- Affordable, high-quality care – Our integrated care model empowers us to continually find new opportunities to reduce costs, improve quality, drive innovation, and personalize care for our members.
- Care that's connected – Our care teams are connected on the same electronic health record system – so they can work together to keep members healthy.

Built to be different

Kaiser Permanente was founded to keep people healthy. From our early days in shipyards, steel mills, and construction sites, we pioneered the idea that it's more cost effective to prevent illnesses than to treat them.

Today, we proudly continue that commitment to providing affordable, high-quality health care.

Use this section to help frame Kaiser Permanente's core values to your prospects.

Tell your prospects about

Our roots as a health care pioneer

Over 75 years ago, our co-founder Sidney R. Garfield, MD, developed a revolutionary prepayment plan for health coverage that rewarded doctors for keeping their patients healthy.

Our unwavering mission

To provide high-quality, affordable health care services and improve the health of our members and the communities we serve.

High-quality care

Our integrated model is fueled by Permanente Medicine, a philosophy of person-centered, quality-driven care practiced by our doctors and medical groups every day. It's a time-tested, proven approach that reduces inefficiencies and produces better health outcomes – and it's how we translate quality into bottom-line value.

What makes our care different

Our highly trained doctors, nurses, and specialists are held to the high standards of Permanente Medicine – which makes care their chief concern. And without the administrative hassles of running a practice, they're empowered to focus on one thing: keeping members healthy.

Tell your prospects about

Getting the right care, not more care

With traditional fee-for-service care delivery, providers get paid more when they submit more claims. We reward our doctors for meeting clinical quality benchmarks – meaning members get the right care, not more care. We call this the fee-for-value model of care delivery. And since that care is integrated with coverage, our doctors are free to be:

Invested – Doctors can focus on providing the right care at the right time.

Connected – Electronic health records provide a member's care history, reducing unnecessary tests and overall costs.

Proactive – Timely preventive care can help avoid costly chronic conditions and treatments.

Read. Learn. Share.

Evidence-based medicine and providing quality of care have always been at the center of my daily practice. ... Empowering the patient with knowledge and walking them through their journey with compassion and respect leads to shared decision-making and a healthier and happier patient.

– Gunjan L. Tykodi, MD

Better specialty care through collaboration

With Kaiser Permanente, members have access to thousands of specialists in more than 100 specialties and subspecialties providing compassionate care from diagnosis through treatment. And since their doctors are connected on the same electronic health record system, it's easy for them to consult each other on important health decisions.

Tell your prospects about

Prevention and screening – Any time a member checks in for an appointment at a Kaiser Permanente facility, their doctors and nurses are prompted to check if they're due for a screening or test. These automated reminders are a key reason we're in the top 10% or better nationwide for colorectal and cervical cancer screenings.¹

Disease management – Heart disease and stroke are leading causes of death in the United States. But we're changing the odds: In our communities, Kaiser Permanente members are 33% less likely to experience premature death due to heart disease.²

More value from pharmacy and specialty drugs

The rising cost of health care is a major concern for everyone. But the Kaiser Permanente pharmacy program embodies the efficiency and advantages of our integrated system. This allows our doctors and pharmacists to work hand in hand to develop an optimized, cost-efficient formulary that saves and improves lives.

Tell your prospects about

How we're managing the impact of pharmacy costs

We're not immune to rising drug-cost trends. But our approach to pharmacy improves efficiency and reduces costs by:

Championing generic utilization – 94% of the medications we prescribe are generics.¹ That's notably higher than the national average of 90%.²

Using bulk purchasing – We negotiate directly with manufacturers and pass the savings on to members.

Advocating for lower pricing – We've joined forces with other providers and consumer groups to call for more transparency in pharmaceutical pricing. When prices go up, we press pharmaceutical companies to demonstrate the medical value accompanying the cost increase.

What high-quality care looks like

Health care should never be one-size-fits-all. Kaiser Permanente members get care from teams who take time to truly get to know them. They also get proactive preventive care and high-quality treatment, personalized and designed to help them spend more healthy years doing more of what they love.

Tell your prospects about

The Medicare health plan with real star power – Year after year, Kaiser Permanente ranks among the top Medicare health plans in the country according to the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services Star Quality Ratings.¹ Check out our highly rated 2023 Medicare health plans at kp.org/medicarestars.

Ranked number one for quality and customer experience – Kaiser Permanente took the top spot in Insure.com’s list of best health plans of 2023. The rankings are based on the NCQA’s annual health plan ratings as well as member surveys – and Kaiser Permanente was number one overall.²

A model for quality, innovation, and transformation – According to Reaction Data’s nationwide survey of hospital CEOs, chief medical officers, and health system leaders, Kaiser Permanente was one of the most frequently cited “models for innovation,” “top hospitals for delivering high-quality care at a sustainable cost,” and “leaders in health care transformation.”³

An investment in innovative experiences

Every day at Kaiser Permanente, we research, learn about, and pioneer new ways of delivering better care. By investing in technology, we aim to dramatically improve health outcomes across all fronts, from the way care teams work together to how we save lives, time, and resources.

Tell your prospects about

Using technology to improve care delivery

Saving lives with predictive analytics – Our Advance Alert Monitor system analyzes data to identify patients at risk of deteriorating and notifies specially trained nurses to intervene. These alerts reduced mortality by 16% and prevented 520 deaths per year over a 3-and-a-half-year period, while lowering ICU readmission rates and length of inpatient stays.¹

Reducing hospitalizations for cardiac patients – Compared to patients who got hospital-based cardiac rehabilitation, patients who participated in home-based rehab were 21% less likely to be hospitalized in the year following a cardiac issue such as a heart attack or surgery.²

Research that transforms care

As one of the largest research organizations outside of university systems, we're always advancing the way we deliver care. Our breadth of research includes vaccine safety, cancer, cardiovascular disease, firearm injury, and much more.

When we make breakthroughs, our collaborative model helps us quickly roll them out to members – meaning your prospects can benefit from safe, informed care that's constantly evolving.
